PAUL R. NEWELL KILLED

YOUNG MAN OF BRIDGEPORT, ILL., GOING TO SEATTLE EXPOSITION.

FELL ASLEEP BY THE SIDE OF THE TRACK

Hit by Missouri Pacific Passenger Train No. 10 and Skull Crushed—Companion, Hugo Lewis, Was Slightly Hurt.

Paul R. Newell, aged 18 or 19 years, whose home was at Bridgeport, Lawrence county, Ill., was hit by Missouri Pacific eastbound passenger train No. 10 at the west switch at Smithton at 2:50 o'clock this morning and instantly killed.

A companion of Newell, Hugo Lewis, about the same age and from the same town, was also struck by train No. 10, but escaped with slight injuries.

Coroner Morley held an inquest over the remains of Newell at Smithton during the forenoon, a verdict to the above effect being returned.

The body was brought to the Sedalia Undertaking Co. morgue and prepared for burial. A relative of the dead man will arrive here this evening and take the remains to Bridgeport for burial.

Lewis, the companion of Newell, came here this afternoon from Smithton and will accompany the body to Illinois.

The two young men left home to attend the Panama-Yukon-Pacific exposition, which opens at Seattle, Wash., tomorrow. They had money, Newell about $30 and Lewis $90, but desired to travel with as little expense as possible, so were beating their way on a west-bound freight train.

The freight broke in two this morning near Smithton, and the front end was taken to that point, when Newell and Lewis left their car while the engine went back after the detached section of the train.

Both boys lay down by the side of the track to rest, and both fell asleep. While in the land of nod train No. 10, which does not stop at Smithton, came thundering along. Newell was hit and the left side of his skull crushed, exposing the brain, and the entire scalp was torn loose. Death was instantaneous.

Lewis sustained a cut on his head, but was not seriously hurt. He reported the accident to the telegraph operator, and Newell's body was cared for until Coroner Morley and the undertaker arrived, after which the inquest was held and the remains brought to Sedalia.

Among the dead boy's effects were photographs of the folks at home, and also a picture of Newell and Lewis sightseeing in an automobile in St. Louis, taken last week.

Lewis has abandoned the proposed trip to Seattle.

CHARLIE HANLEY CHASED

By An Irrate Bull While Crossing Pasture at Houstonia.

Deputy County Collector Charles Hanley had an exciting experience at Houstonia Sunday, while spending the day fishing.

He was accompanied by Lee Hodges, of that place, and the two were returning home after having spent the day on the creek banks. They had met with quite a bit of success, Mr. Hanley's hands and arms being loaded with fish, frogs and "srawdads." They started to cross a pasture, when Hanley's appearance did not suit a bull in a herd of cattle.

Suddenly the animal decided to chase the deputy county collector, and Hanley started to run. He fell all over the pasture, losing the fish and frogs he caught, and barely escaped through a barbed-wire fence from being caught and possibly killed.

HOLMES HALL'S GREAT RUN

He's Quite a Sprinter in Other Than a Political Race.

Senator Holmes Hall, in addition to being an orator, is also a sprinter. He was booked for Lamonte this morning, and arrived at the corner of Ohio avenue and the Missouri Pacific tracks just as train No. 37 was pulling out of the station. He made a flying run and after speeding for one block overtook the train near Kentucky avenue.

He managed to seize hold of the handbar of the rear coach, but unfortunately the vestibule doors were closed and locked.

The senator retained his hold until the train reached Brushy creek, when his predicament was noticed by a passenger on the train, who notified the conductor, after which Holmes was given entrance to the coach.

JESSE D. BLOCHER SEEKS A DIVORCE FROM ELIZABETH H. BLOCHER.

HIS WIFE WILL NOT LIVE IN THE WEST

She is Now Residing in Brooklyn, N. Y., While Mr. Blocher Lives at Guthrie—He Has Quite a Remarkable History.

Jesse D. Blocher, son of the late Josiah Blocher, one of the pioneers of Sedalia, is written of as follows in a Guthrie, Okla., dispatch of May 29:

Suit for divorce has been filed in superior court of Logan county by Jesse D. Blocher, of this place, against his wife, Elizabeth Haggard Blocher, of Brooklyn, N. Y., abandonment and cruelty being alleged.

Blocher is special agent for a life insurance company in Oklahoma and other southwestern states. Mrs. Blocher dislikes the west and she insisted upon living in the east.

Blocher for years served District Attorney Jerome, of New York, as one of his most trusted agents, and ran down the principals in the Dodge-Morse divorce case several years ago, which resulted in the imprisonment of Abe Hummel, the New York divorce lawyer, for subornation of perjury.

When Dodge fled, Jerome put Blocher on his trail. Blocher first got track of Dodge at New Orleans and finally caught him in Texas, after more than a year's pursuit and litigation.

Dodge was taken by steamer to New York City to escape extradition dangers in states through which Dodge would have to pass overland.

In this case Blocher expended more than $60,000. Blocher formerly lived in Sedalia, Mo., and at one time was manager of the Thiel detective agency at Montreal, Canada.

THE "CUBS" WON THE GAME

Defeat Cole Camp Team Sunday by a Score of 2 to 1.

The Sedalia Cubs Sunday defeated the Cole Camp ball club in one of the fastest games played on the latter's grounds this season. The features of the game were Duvenick's pitching and the hitting of John Blatterman, the latter player batting in the two runs scored by the Cubs. Sam Duvenick never pitched a better game, he striking out fifteen men. The score by innings follows:

Sedalia . . . 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—2 8 4
Cole Camp . . . 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—1 3 2
Batteries: Cubs, Duvenick and Wilkeson; Cole Camp, Joye and Moore.

FUGITIVE NEGRO CAUGHT

James Foster, Who Escaped From the Chain Gang Last Week.

James Foster, a negro, who escaped from the county prisoners' chain gang while at work near Thatcher's ford last Wednesday, was captured at Lexington, Mo., Sunday, Sheriff W. S. Peacock making the arrest.

Foster was returned here by Sheriff M. T. Henderson last night. He said he had made his escape and had returned to Lexington to collect some money which a man owed him.

John Jaekel, the guard from whom Foster escaped, was so elated over the capture of the fugitive that he purchased a box of cigars and set 'em up to all of his friends.

Will Undergo Operation.

Dr. and Mrs. Montgomery, of Eldorado Springs, Mo., are guests at the Blackman hotel. Mrs. Montgomery will be operated upon by Dr. M. C. Alderman at his operating rooms on West Fourth street tomorrow morning.

BEAUTIFUL CROWN HILL

BURIED BENEATH A WEALTH OF FLORAL TRIBUTES BY THE G. A. R. AND OTHERS.

ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICES ARE HELD

Graves of Fallen Heroes Strewn With Flowers—The Annual Address Delivered by the Reverend Grant A. Robbins.

The annual Memorial exercises of the G. A. R. were held yesterday at the First Baptist church, which was beautifully decorated with flags, bunting and flowers.

The decorations were under the immediate charge of Mrs. Matilda Leake, assisted by Misses Lydia and Mattie Montgomery, Miss Margaret Letts and Mr. and Mrs. Russa G. Leaming.

A most eloquent and patriotic sermon was delivered by Rev. Frank Y. Campbell to a crowded house.

A large number of veterans and members of the W. R. C. were present, and greatly enjoyed the exercises.

At the close of the sermon, Miss Florence Lamy sang a beautiful solo, the old soldiers, scarred and gray-headed, arose, and by twos, followed the flag, the audience remaining seated until all had passed out.

Exercises at Crown Hill.

With ideal weather Memorial day was appropriately observed in Sedalia today by George R. Smith post No. 53, G. A. R., and its auxiliary, the W. R. C., No. 32, and also by Sergeant Clay Shaw post, composed of negro veterans of the civil war.

During the forenoon committees from the G. A. R. and W. R. C. decorated the graves of the fallen heroes interred in beautiful Crown Hill cemetery, a wealth of flowers having been furnished for the purpose.

The members of George R. Smith post assembled at their hall at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, and, preceded by the Second Regiment band and Co. D Second regiment, N. G. M., marched to the cemetery, the members of the W. R. C., city and county officials and citizens following in carriages.

The exercises at Crown Hill consisted of reading the ritualistic services of the G. A. R., the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Dr. Ira T. Bronson, the Memorial day address by the Rev. Grant A. Robbins, pastor of the First M. E. church, and concluded with a recitation, "Old Glory," by Miss Helen Norton.

Rev. Robbins' Address.

Rev. Robbins stated that a gentleman went about the country delivering a great oration upon the proposition that "war never settled anything." Mr. Robbins reviewed the decisive battles in history upon which the destinies of nations rested. He showed that certain civilizations were either established or destroyed through war. Deploring war, he said that there were times when war was necessary. He reviewed the slavery agitation in this country and the events leading up to the war. He showed the history of slavery from the very beginning. Mr. Robbins said:

Antipathy to Slavery.

"While war settled the question of slavery, for the emancipation proclamation was a war measure, yet it was not a sudden conclusion reached in

CHRISTOPHER NOT IN IT

KANSAS CITY MAN DENIES HAVING PROFITED BY PAT-TEN "CORNER."

NO TROTH IN STORIES FROM CHICAGO

He's the Head of Grain Firm That Made Deals in May Wheat and Corn, but All Holdings Were for Their Customers.

B. C. Christopher, the Kansas City broker, who has relatives in Sedalia and is well known in business circles here, and who was reported to have been a heavy winner in the Patten May wheat deal on the Chicago board of trade, made a statement Sunday to the Kansas City Times, in which he denies that he profited in the deal.

"There is not a word of truth in the Chicago newspaper stories that I won in the Patten May wheat deal," said Mr. Christopher.

"I was in Chicago Friday night and read in papers, there that I was a heavy winner, but there isn't a word of truth in the reports. Our house is a member of the Kansas City board of trade, and all our holdings of May wheat and corn were for our customers. We didn't trade for ourselves and were not in any deal connected with the Patten deal. These stories all came from Chicago and are without foundation."

B. C. Christopher is the head of the grain firm of B. C. Christopher & Co.

Leo Streng Operated Upon.

Leo Streng was operated upon for stricture by Dr. M. C. Alderman at his operating rooms this morning, and this afternoon is reported as resting nicely.

WAS NOT A HOG ROOTING

INSTEAD, 'T WAS MAJOR JAMES TURLEY, EX-SEDALIAN, TRYING TO KEEP WARM.

COMRADE OF PHILIPS AND CRITTENDEN

The Three Were Members of Seventh Missouri Cavalry During Civil War, and Warm Friends Ever Afterwards.

In a sketch regarding the late ex-Governor Thomas T. Crittenden the Kansas City Journal of Sunday had the following regarding two former Sedalians, Judge John F. Phillips and Mayor James Turley:

How the men of the Seventh cavalry stuck together.

Almost any day of recent years there could be seen in the federal building John F. Phillips, T. T. Crittenden and James Turley. Phillips occupied the bench as judge of the United States court for the Western district, Governor Crittenden was there as referee in bankruptcy and Turley was at the door as the court bailiff.

The three have stood together since 1861. "Old Cap'n" Turley's lines have not been the easiest. A bailiff is paid by the day only, and but a trifle. The other two of the three musketeers occupied high places. It took a stretch of imagination to reconcile the men.

The winter of 1863 was a cold one. The Seventh Missouri cavalry had just finished a forced march to relieve the city of Springfield, and from there had gone into battle at a point ten miles south, when there came up a violent snow storm.

The cavalry equipment included tarpaulins to sleep under. Colonel Phillips, commanding the regiment and Lieutenant Colonel Crittenden had a monster buffalo robe for "kiver," as it was known. That night the two friends had to put their heads under the buffalo robe to keep from the snow storm.

"And during my sound sleep," Judge Phillips is wont to relate, "I thought there was a hog rooting in between Crittenden and myself, but I was too fatigued to offer any objection. Next morning I found it was Turley who had crawled in bed between us. In those rough days men were mates."

And they mated for keeps, for till Governor Crittenden's death the three were together.

Burial of Mrs. Henderson.

The funeral of Mrs. G. S. Henderson, who died Saturday night, was held from the First M. E. church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev.

C. R. Carlos, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, and the Rev. J. F. Caskey, pastor of the Fifth Street M. E. church, South, officiated, the former preaching the sermon.

There was a large attendance and many floral offerings rested on the casket. Burial was in Crown Hill cemetery.

Mr. Shortridge Won the Case.

A. L. Shortridge was the leading attorney for the plaintiff in Mrs. Gallagher's $6,000 damage suit against the City of Tipton, wherein a verdict for $5,000 was returned last week for the plaintiff, instead of being attorney for the defendant, as previously stated.

AIRSHIP STRUCK A TREE

THE ZEPPELIN BALLOON, ON RETURN TRIP FROM GERMAN BATTLEFIELD.

FORWARD COMPARTMENT WAS DAMAGED

Vessel Had Been in the Air a Trifle Over Thirty-Seven Hours and Broken All Records for Dirigible Balloons.

Ulm, Germany, May 31.—The Zeppelin airship, on its return to Friedrichshafen from the battlefield, ran into a branch of a tree at a railroad station between here and Stuttgart, about 10 o'clock this morning.

The forward compartment of the balloon was damaged but how seriously has not been determined.

It is presumed, however, the airship will be able to continue on to Friedrichshafen, as the machinery and all the compartments except the forward one appeared to be intact.

The vessel had been in the air a trifle over thirty-seven hours, and had broken all records for sustained flight in dirigible balloons.

The accident occurred when the vessel came close to the ground for maneuvers. A rent made when the craft struck a tree is only slight, and workmen will be able to repair it by tonight. The count explained that he did not continue on to Berlin last night because the airship had lost some gas, and he thought it wiser to start on the return trip to Friedrichshafen. The airship covered about 955 miles.

Two of the Three Couples Had the Nuptial Knot Tied.

James C. Ford and Mrs. L. E. Appleby of Parsons, Kas., both former Sedalians, were united in wedlock by Circuit Judge Louis Hoffman at the court house at 10 o'clock this morning.

A marriage license was issued Sunday to G. A. Smith and Janet A. Turley, both of this city, who were married by Judge Leaming.

The following couple got a license this morning: C. O. Baker, of Sedalia, and Eva M. Gamber, of Lafayette, Ind.

FIVE ADDITIONAL ROADS

A DIAMOND FOR 'GENE OTT

Former Resident of Sedalia Remembered for a "Find."

E. C. Ott, a former Sedalian, but now passenger agent for the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway in Kansas City, received a note of thanks Sunday from Mrs. Ernest Milton White, of Philadelphia, for finding a handbag containing money and jewels, which she lost at the Union depot in Kansas City a week ago.

With the note was a brilliant diamond and a money order to cover the expense of having the jewel mounted.

CLAY HEDGES DROWNED

He Was Boating on Blackwater, When Boat Capsized.

Clay Hedges, a 16-year-old son of Warren Hedges, of Sweet Springs, was drowned in Blackwater, Mo., this morning while boat riding with Forrest Long, a younger boy.

The two were boating in the stream, when the boat capsized. Long was able to swim and managed to hold onto the boat, floating down the stream until rescued by a friend.

Hedges was unable to swim and was drowned. Late this afternoon the body had not been recovered.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Next to the Fourth of July, Memorial day has come to be considered the most sacred of all national holidays. This is true because of the fact that on every recurrence of that day
business is practically laid aside,
while patriotic addresses are made
and tens of thousands of graves of the brave boys in blue who gave their lives that the country might live, are covered with beautiful flowers and wet with the tears of those who can never forget.

Another Memorial day is here, with all its tender memories and all its loving service. It has been well said
by a leading official of the Grand Army of the Republic that "in Memorial day the American people have given the most beautiful and touching service ever offered to a nation's heroes," and that "in itself it would justify the existence of the Grand Army of the Republic, which instituted it."

Memorial day had its origin in and is part of the early history of the G.
A. R., and the two are so closely intertwined that they can not be separated; therefore, a short history of the organization so much loved by the old soldiers, and of the day, made sacred by the former, may be timely.

Toward the close of the Civil war, Major B. F. Stephenson, surgeon of the Forty-first Illinois Infantry, and Chaplain William J. Rutledge, of the same regiment, often talked of the end of the war and of the breaking up of the armies after the hoped-for peace should be declared. Major Stephenson wanted some sort of an organization that would perpetuate the friendships and the memories of their common trials and dangers, and that should aid in doing honor to the memory of those who had laid down their lives. In all these ideals Chaplain Rutledge heartily concurred.

Peace came in April, 1865, at which time there was more than a million men in the army and navy, while a still larger number had been previously enrolled and discharged. To that number must be added a roll
which at the time numbered over 350, 000, which has since been most appropriately entitled the "Grand Army of the Dead." Statistics show that there had been killed in battle 67,058;

that 43,032 had died of wounds and other injuries; that 224,586 had died
of disease, and that 21,852 had died from causes not classified out of a total enlistment for the war of probably 2,320,000.

The army had taken part in more than 2,000 engagements. The navy, with 122,000 men employed, had also borne an important part.

The armies disbanded and Major Stephenson returned to his home in Decatur, Ill. There he soon interested some of his former comrades in his plans and hopes, until, on April 6, 1886, "Post No. 1, Grand Army of the Republic," was organized in that little city, with a small membership, and the grand order was a reality and was here to stay.

The membership of the G. A. R. is not definitely known, but the commander in chief reported at the last general encampment that on Dec. 31, 1907, the members in good standing numbered 225,157.

Something like 200,000 men, the pathetic remnant of the original 2,000, 000, are marching through the streets of our cities and villages today. Honor these men, brighten their last days; it was their spirit which gave you your purple robe of liberty and your boy his wonderful life opportunity.

President Northrop, of the University of Minnesota, probably would not feel qualified to enter a Marathon
race, but he has shown himself possessed of good qualities as a sprinter, even at 68 years of age. He saw two students smoking on the campus, and as that was against the rules the president started toward the young men to admonish them. The offenders took to their heels and the president took after them. What was more, he caught them and "gave it to them"
good and proper. And he beat the Osler theory by several laps.

Congressmen who have been in Porto Rico announce that the outlook for the island is bright. Agricultural conditions encourage expectation of large returns, and there is abundant inducement for the investment of America capital. If Porto Rico will suppress its political disturbances and utilize its many natural resources to the best advantage it will be all right, and the United States will stand by Porto Rico in that endeavor.

The Georgia papers announce that Senators Bacon and Clay are together
on all tariff items, except lumber.
Surely, there must be some way to bridge over this difference, or gang-blank it over, or something.

"One way to tell that you are getting old is when you get tired of the circus parade before it is half over,"
says the Ohio State Journal. Probably so, but we never heard of anybody doing that.

The so-called independent refiner's
say they are not controlled by the sugar trust. This sounds persuasive, but an adopted son can not always be dependent upon to acknowledge his father.

It is not at all certain that President Taft's inflamed eye is the result of riding in the wind. The president has been trying very hard to see a way out of the tariff tangles.

There is a man in North Carolina
so avaricious that he has arranged to die before an inheritance tax law would go into effect if congress should pass it.

A message to Mars can be sent for $10,000,000, says Prof. Pickering. Let's send it marked "collect," and see what will happen.

"I am for revenue," says Senator Tillman. With a little iron ore and tea protection on the side, nevertheless.

"Senator Aldrich is not an orator," says the Chattanooga Times. But his eloquence is wonderfully persuasive,
it seems.

The income tax amendment has been sidetracked. Yes, and the switch locked with the key in Aldrich's pocket.

AND REWARD

It is a fundamental law of nature that reward comes in direct ratio to effort.

Man would accomplish very little in this world if things were given to him. As it is, most men work just for the necessities of life—they never think of the future or even try to provide for their own comfort, when old age shall at last cut off their earning power, as it surely will.

Don't be content with what you have been doing; or with what others have done. Try to do more. Try to save more.

the throes of war. There was an antipathy existing among the colonists for slavery. The Declaration of Independence as penned by the immortal Jefferson in the famous expression, "all men are created equal," opposed slavery, and in the original draft of the document a direct reference was made to slavery in the charge against George III, that he had kept open a market where men could be bought and sold. Again it speaks of the execrable commerce.

"Jefferson, though an owner of slaves, was at heart opposed to it, and planned for their liberation. This question was the chief contention of the national congress for more than half a century. The Missouri compromise in 1820 had to do with this question. The omnibus bill in 1850
brought together in terrible contest
the leading men of the nation. What an array of names associated with that great contest. Calhoun, Jefferson Davis, Douglas, Seward, Chase, Clay, and Webster. Clay, the great compromiser, who had played in that role on so many important occasions,
now comes back almost from the tomb in another attempt to save the nation.

"Then came the Kansas-Nebraska
bill of 1854, the Dred Scott decision,
each giving some new phase to the question. On the outside were such men as Lovejoy, Wendell Phillips, Garrison, Beecher and his great sister, Mrs. Stowe. The question was not, and in the very nature of the case could not be, confined to the halls of congress. In the press, the platform, the pulpit and the parlor,
the market place, and wherever human beings assembled, the chief topic of conversation was the questions
of the day—the country and slavery.

"Out from the ranks of the common people arose a man, by birth a southerner, by training and inclination an opposer of slavery, and a believer in the Union. This man, Abraham Lincoln, by name, was the sanest and most conservative of all the opponents of slavery. In seven great debates with Stephen A. Douglas, the most conspicuous of all the great men of his time, Lincoln contended that while Douglas did not care whether slavery were voted up or voted down, he could not be trusted by the people. For if slavery was wrong, then no man could say that he did not care whether a wrong were voted up or voted down. He did not know how the slavery question was to be settled, but he believed that 'in the best way for both races in God's good time' slavery
should be destroyed.

You Built Wiser Than You Knew.
The soldier settled the question whether or not the constitution was a compact. Webster and Hayne attempted this during the thirties, but you settled it in the supreme court of force. You shot to death the doctrine of state's rights. You welded the nation in the furnace of war, into one indissoluble Union. You built wiser than you knew.

"You could have had then little knowledge of the far reaching consequences of your doing. Lincoln had the far reaching vision. Writing to Conkling, of New York, he spoke of 'man's vast future,' and of 'all future time.' Then at Gettysburg, in that address he said, 'Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation,
conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are in the midst of a great war testing whether or not
that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure.'
The last clause is a prayer that 'Governments of the people, for the people and by the people, should not perish from the earth.' He realized that the whole earth was interested. The future was tremendously involved. It was the crisis of republican form of government. Liberty was on trial.

A Blow to Tyranny.
The victory of the American nation was a blow to tyranny throughout the earth. Every tyrant felt the trembling of his throne. It has been affirmed that since America has possessions in the Pacific that we have become a world power. We have always been a world power. Ever since the nation has had an existence, the oppressed of every land have found here a home. Every nation has felt the influence of our self-government.
We are changing the world's history
and the condition of mankind everywhere.

"The saving of the Union made possible the enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine. The saving of the Union gave us power to oppose the partitioning of China. It made possible the liberating of Cuba from the galling yoke of Spanish bondage. It made possible the peace of Porthmouth, between Russia and Japan.
What nation on the earth could have brought about this peace but ours?
For Italy or effete and worn-out Spain
to have attempted it would have been child's play. England could not have done so, because the powers were watching her with suspicious eye.

Germany nor France could not, for each was jealous of the other. Turkey could not, for he was the sick of Europe. Butchery was his business and what cared he for war among others? China could not because she was tossed upon the bayonets of the belligerent nations. Had any nation of Asia or Europe attempted it there would possibly have been such embroilment as modern times has not known. There was but one man in all this vast earth who could have lifted his hand over ten thousand miles of sea and land, and stayed the storm of war, and that was the hero of San Juan Hill, the president of the Union you saved.

A Tear for Those Who Fought for the Lost Cause.

"On this day we drop a tear for those who fought for the lost cause.
A southern chaplain poet has said, in a tender little poem concerning the Confederate flag:

"Furl that banner softly, slowly;
Treat it gently; it is holy.
For it droops above the dead.
Touch it not, unfold it never;
Let it droop there, furled forever.
For its people's hopes are dead."

"This tender sentiment touches the heart of all who feel. It has in it the pathos and almost despair of those who staked all men have to lose for their cause. But are 'its people's hopes dead?' The hopes of any people floating any other flag over this land than the stars and stripes are dead forever. But the Union saved brings back to the people of the Southland a better and brighter
hope than was ever possible with a divided nation. That land once devastated by the curse of war and drenched by the blood of the dead and the tears of the living is now arising out of the ashes of the past into a new day of commercial and moral greatness."

Want All-Steel Cars.

The management of the Pennsylvania road is having difficulty in carrying out its determination to run
nothing but all-steel sleeping cars through the New York tunnels. The report that the company had ordered
a large number of all-steel sleeping cars from the Pullman company without foundation.

Although the company as yet has not ordered any all-steel sleeping cars
it would like to do so if it could determine upon specifications for such cars and could find a manufacturing company which would guarantee to turn them out as ordered. The company is also having trouble with those roads that deliver sleepers to the Pennsylvania at various points for New York.

The decision that none but all-steel cars shall be run through the tunnel
bores is on account of the guarantee of greater safety which such cars offer
in the event of an accident. The connecting lines, however, object to being forced to provide themselves with all steel sleepers.

Such cars will cost from $10,000 to $15,000 more than other cars, and if the Pullman company builds them it will necessitate a complete change
in the operating contract between the Pullman company and the various railroads.

Free Coffee a Good Move.

A veteran commercial traveler,
speaking of the bulletin issued by one of the great railroad companies, that all Pullman passengers on its lines
would be furnished with "free coffee
served by the Pullman porters," says:
"This may be a move on the part of the temperance people, but there are not many travelers, not even liquor drummers, who will not say that it is a wise step and one which will make the road popular. Years ago, when the rivalry for passenger trade reduced the steamboat fare on the Hudson river to almost nothing, the notice that one line would furnish free coffee brought more trade than bands of music. When the Robert E. Lee and the Natchez were the crack craft in the St. Louis-New Orleans trade, one of the features which the tourists always dwelt upon was the great urn of hot coffee and the pyramid of cups
which stood in the main saloon on these boats from six until eight o'clock
every morning. There passengers helped themselves or were waited upon by the stewards. All the little boats followed the example, and the cup of coffee before breakfast became the rule on the Mississippi."

The Logic of Facts.

R. P. McCulloch tells of a Harper county farmer who lives near a railroad and close by a whistling station, who one day wishing to get a letter off somewhere, rushed out on the track, frantically waved his cap and stopped the train. He went to the mail car and put his letter into the slot. The conductor saw him about that time and said: "Look here, don't you know you can't stop this train?" The farmer replied: "Well, by gum, I did stop it."—Kansas City Star.

ANNUAL "HUSBAND FAIR"

HAS ATTRACTED BACHELORS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

MARCHED FROM STATION TO TOWN HALL

This Yearly Event Has Become One of the "Sights" of Europe—Why Do Not Some of Our Sedalia Beaux Attend?

Brussels, May 31.—Bachelors from many parts of the world are today the guests of the fair maidens of the village of Ecaussine-Lalaing, where the annual "husband fair" is in progress. Special trains carried curious crowds of matrimonial candidates to the quaint town from Paris and all the chief towns of Belgium.

The incoming bachelors mustered at the railroad station at 2 o'clock this afternoon and marched to the town hall, where they were received by the maids of Ecaussine. There were speeches of welcome by an unmarried girl and mutual introduction. Then luncheon, champagne, and Hainault cakes and other good things. Concerts, open air balls and fireworks fill the long evening program. This husband fair has become one of the "sights" of Europe. Numerous American parties are attending the fair. Candidates for matrimony come from England, Germany, Italy, Holland and even from Australia. The president this year is Mlle. Victorine Cocke, a chestnut-haired beauty of twenty. She has mastered a phalanx of thirty young girls, all ready to be wooed and won.

EMOTIONS AMONG THE BIRDS.

Eminent Professor Has Upset Some Beliefs That Have Hitherto Been Strongly Held.

Little red bird in the tree, sing a song to Clinton G. Abbott of your fears, your peacefulness, your obstinacy, indignation, realization, anticipations and other emotions. Prof. Abbott, the ornithologist, believes that with his large collection of photographs and incidental studies, he has proved the possession of emotions by the birds.

The raising or depressing of the bird's feathers, the pose of her body, the opening or closing of her bill, and the expression of her wonderful eyes are emotional signifiers to which the professor attaches importance. He enjoins any owner of a canary bird to test his ideas for himself by approaching the cage with whistled encouragement and sympathy.

"The little fellow will doubtless cock his head on one side, raise his crest and gaze in a quizzical and friendly manner at his visitor," the investigator says. "But utter some unaccustomed sound or run the finger tip across the bars, and he will dash from perch to perch with a look of unmistakable terror in his eye and feathers tightly depressed and body slim." The goose which in a tame state is called the stupidest of all poultry, Prof. Abbott finds on its nesting grounds in the far north of Scotland to be possessed of an intelligent and crafty nature such as has seldom come under his observation either by direct contact with nature or from study of the work of others.

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., 110 West Second Street, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

DURBIN TO THE PIRATES

FORT SCOTT BOY NOW WITH THE TEAM HANS WAGNER PLAYS "SHORT" FOR.

KANSAN WAS TRADED FOR AN OUTFIELDER

Fred Clark Has Been Trying for Some Time to Get the Little Fellow —He Will Be Played Regularly by Pittsburgh.

Fort Scott, Kas., May 31.—Blaine Durbin, Fort Scott's National League asset, has changed berths again, and is now a member of the Pittsburgh Nationals, the team made famous by the great Hans Wagner.

A swap was consummated by Clark Griffith, of the Cincinnati Reds, who secured Durbin from the Chicago Cubs, whereby Durbin was exchanged for Outfielder Ward Miller, of the Pirates. Whether there was any "boot," and who got it, if there was, is not known here.

The Cubs made a bench warmer of Durbin for two years and he refused to return last spring. He was sold to the Reds and it was presumed that the Cincinnati team had acquired Durbin for the purpose of playing him, but he was never used save at strenuous times when he was sent in as a pinch hitter. He always played well when given a chance.

Durbin is known to have not been satisfied with the way the Reds were using him. The third year in the big league opening auspiciously as a bench warmer was enough to shatter the hopes of any young fellow. Baseball players do not last forever, especially a pitcher, and if Durbin is good at all he is good right now and has been since he set the Western association afire with his phenomenal pitching.

There was talk of urging Blaine to jump to the Outlaws. Months ago it was known that Fred Clark, of the Pittsburghs, wanted Blaine. He said at the time that he would never see Durbin sold to a small league, and indicated that if ever given a chance he would take the boy up and use him as a pitcher.

There is strong hope in the minds of the Fort Scott friends of Durbin that he will be pitched. Blaine has plenty of smoke, and is strong in the cardiac regions when it would come to going against the greatest in the game, and his nerve will carry him through, it is believed.

Durbin, with such stars as Wagner and Leach to coach him, will likely do better with the Pirates than with any other team in the league. Local sports welcome the change.

HORSE PARTIAL TO PEACHES

New York Animal Passed Up Real Fruit in Favor of Millinery Ornamentation.

That horses prefer peaches to oranges was demonstrated yesterday, says the New York Sun. Two women just through shopping emerged from a store and stopped to talk near the curb. A few feet away was a pushcart loaded with oranges. Two yards away stood a delivery wagon.

One of the women wore a peach basket hat set off with several bunches of flowers and two artificial peaches. The conversation between the two women evidently was of great interest to both, as neither noticed the horse edge himself gradually to where they were standing until he almost touched the tail end of the push cart with the oranges.

Then the conversation was brought to an abrupt end by the woman with the peach basket feeling a tug at her hat which caused her to turn around to find the cause. With a shriek she made a hasty retreat for the store, leaving the horse in possession of the two peaches which he had nibbled at in preference to the oranges on the push cart.

MR. CASEY HAD SUGGESTION.

Was Ready with Inscription He Would Like to Place on New Stained Glass Window.

The women of the church in a suburb of Chicago were soliciting money to pay for decorating their house of worship. They were told, diplomatically, that if they would call on Casey, who kept the leading saloon in the village, they might get a good donation. They called. Casey met them genially, listened to what they had to say and promptly subscribed $500. This was so much more than the solicitors had hoped for that they were much flustered, and could do nothing but stammer their thanks. Finally one of them rounded to and said: "Why, Mr. Casey, this is most generous of you. It will allow us to get what we want very much—a fine stained glass window."

Casey thought that would be the right thing to do. "And, Mr. Casey," said the spokeswoman, "in view of this magnificent donation, isn't there something you would like to put on the window, something or some remembrance, or something of the kind?"

"Well," said Casey, "I think it would look fine to have on the glass, because the two parts are in, in native letters, something like this: 'After Mass Visit Casey's.'"

SATISFIED WITH THE RULING

Parties to Controversy in Tangiers Courts of Justice Breathe No Ill-Feeling Over Verdict.

"I've been about the court house here for a long time, on one duty or other," remarked Judge Madison W. Beeson of Cleveland, O., "but in all my life I've never seen but one court trial—excepting divorce cases—in which the litigants on both sides were satisfied with the decision. And the one case I mention was not in America. No, indeed. We boast of our civilization and of our modern judicial system, but we haven't yet mastered the art of delivering justice and equity to the complete and smiling approval of two sides to a given controversy." The judge paused for breath.

"It was over in Tangiers," he resumed. "Long bearded patriarchs come in on their camels and camp in the streets while they attend court. When you see a court trial looking for all the world like a scene out of the Bible, you naturally expect to see justice meted out more crudely than by our own modern methods. But, as I say, the system over there in Morocco has its advantages. The judge took his seat on the floor over in a corner of the court room and the litigants sat down on the floor facing him.

"When the case was over the court handed down his decision on the spot, and both parties to the suit walked away wreathed in smiles. Have you ever seen a trial end so happily in America?"

Safe. A Philadelphia boy and his aunt Adelaide, who were visiting relatives at a country home in Lancaster county, were one day crossing a pasture together. When they were halfway across Aunt Adelaide noticed two oxen and paused doubtfully.

"I'm not sure that it's prudent to go past those oxen, Harry," she said. Whereupon Harry tightened his hold on his aunt's hand encouragingly. "Don't be afraid of the oxen, auntie," said he. "They won't hurt us. The first time I came down here I was afraid of them. I didn't dare to go back of them, and I didn't dare to go in front of them. But I thought of a way at last—I simply crawled under them."—Harper's Weekly.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The kidneys, like the heart, and the stomach, and their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well. If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is scanty, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. ## TO SAVE THE BOYS

ROBERT RAIKES' IDEA IN STARTING SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Movement That Is Now World-Wide Had Humble Beginning in an English City One Hundred Years Ago.

One Sunday morning, a hundred years ago, a workingman, carefully dressed in his best suit, came out of his house on the main street of the old English town of Gloucester and strolled leisurely down the hill. The New Inn was fronted then, as it is today, by a square garden overhung by the carved galleries of the tavern. There was a moss-clad well in the center, and about it were beds of sweet-smelling pinks and columbines.

But the calm of that Sunday morning was destroyed by a crowd of street boys who fought over the flower beds, making the day hideous with their noise and coarse talk.

The printer—for printing was his work on weekdays—stopped in the midst of the crowd and looked steadily at the boys. Presently he said to himself: "At this rate those boys will soon go utterly to the bad. That must not be! There are good possibilities in them. Here, boys," he called aloud, "come with me!"

He led them, yelling and pushing, down the street into his own quiet house, planning as he went how to keep them there.

"I am going," he said, presently, "to start a school for you. Now and here. It shall be a free school; I will be the teacher."

The boys received the news with shouts. They were too ragged and grimy to go to church on Sundays. No other decent place was open to them.

The next Sunday his house was crowded with the same class of children. The idea of a free school on Sunday appealed to every Christian as a most hopeful plan for the rescue of children from wickedness. It spread through the town, through the shire, through England. It was adopted in France and Germany; it made its way to Australia and to the United States. Now, in every country in the world and in every sect there are these schools, in which, every Sunday morning, the Bible story is told, without money and without price.

In the staid old city of Gloucester they still show you the New Inn and the garden where the boys played, and the old brown house with its peaked roof in which Robert Raikes, that long-ago morning, taught the first Sunday school.—From Rebecca Harding Davis' "Three Little Stories" in St. Nicholas.

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health. The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. ## SHAFT IS 85 FEET HIGH

A MONUMENT ERECTED ON THE BATTLEFIELD AT GETTYS-BURG UNVEILED.

ONE OF MOST CONSPICUOUS ON GROUND

Will Commemorate the Services of the Regular Army of the United States in the Memorable Campaign, 1863.

Gettysburg, Pa., May 31.—The monument erected on the battlefield of Gettysburg to commemorate the services of the regular army of the United States in the Gettysburg campaign in 1863, which was unveiled this afternoon, is one of the most interesting, dignified and conspicuous memorials on the famous battlefield. It is situated on Hancock avenue a little south of the Bloody Angle where Pickett's fearless men struck the Union line with such disastrous results to the invading army. The memorial is a shaft 85 feet high from the ground is made of light color granite from the quarries at Mount Airy, N. C.

The base plinth of the monument is 14½ feet square and 17 feet high and is surrounded by a beautiful granite terrace 43½ feet square, with a two-foot-high fence or wall. Four entrances each 14 feet wide, with three granite steps, lead to the base of the monument. On each side of the second plinth, which is 12½ feet high, is an eagle cut solidly on the face of the plinth. Each eagle is four feet high and all are said to be the finest modeled eagles ever cut in granite or cast in bronze in America. Upon the second plinth rests the plain shaft, which is 53 feet tall.

On each side of the plinth is a large bronze panel, said to be the largest and finest memorial tablet ever cast in the United States or any other country. The tablet facing the east contains the following inscription:

"Erected by the Congress to Commemorate the Services of that Portion of the Army of the Potomac Composed of Cavalry, Artillery, Infantry and Engineers of the Regular Army of the United States in the Gettysburg Campaign, June-July, 1863."

The tablet on the west side is inscribed as follows:

"The Artillery consisting of twenty-six batteries was distributed over the field among the several army corps and placed in position where their services were most needed. Brig.-Gen. Henry J. Hunt, chief of artillery. Four regiments of cavalry under Brig.-Gen. Wesley Merritt took position of the right flank of the Confederate line of battle.

"Eleven regiments of infantry were on the field. Ten with the Second division, Fifth corps, and one at headquarters, Army of the Potomac. "Battalion of U. S. Engineers, Capt. George H. Mendell, commanding.

"Casualties: Killed, 12 officers, 159 enlisted men; wounded, 62 officers, 861 enlisted men; missing, Six officers, 275 enlisted men."

The north and south tablets contain the names of the forty-two organizations and the names of their commanders.

Forty-two small monuments, one for each of the commands in the Gettysburg campaign, which were erected at the location each organization occupied during the battle, are of Jonesboro granite, 24x50 inches and seven feet high. Upon each is a descriptive bronze tablet and the coat of arms of the United States.

The central monument and the forty-two regimental monuments were authorized by act of congress of February 18, 1903, and March 3, 1905, and cost altogether $61,000. The Gettysburg national park commission was assisted in the selection of the site and adoption of designs for the monuments by a committee of nine from among the surviving officers of the commands that took part in the three days' battle.

The erection and dedication of the monuments to the regular soldiers enriches a battlefield that already contains hundreds of beautiful memorials. There are now on the field about 500 monuments and the number of tablets erected exceeds 500. The number of guns mounted on the field, Union and Confederate, is about 375. Pennsylvania will next year erect a state monument at a cost of $150,000, and the states of Alabama and Virginia will also place monuments on the famous field in the near future to commemorate the valorous services of their sons in that mighty struggle.

President Taft Speaks.

Gettysburg, Pa., May 31.—President Taft today made the principal address at the unveiling of the monument erected at Gettysburg in memory of the regular soldiers who participated in the famous battle. Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the president, unveiled the memorial. Two thousand regular troops and thousands of veterans of the Grand Army took part in the exercises.

This is the first monument erected at Gettysburg to the regulars of the Union army, while nearly all of the state troops have memorials of some sort.

Dialogue, if Correctly Reported, Should Have Made Corporation Magnate Feel at Home.

The corporation magnate who had been a witness while on earth approached the golden gate and handed his card to St. Peter, saying:

"Will you kindly open the gate?" "I am very sorry," said Peter regretfully, "but, really, I must consult my counsel before answering."

"Why, you know who I am, don't you?" inquired the departed.

"The question," said Peter, "is misleading, irrelevant and immaterial; yet, as I desire to give fullest information on all matters, I will say that my memory is faulty on that subject."

"Certainly, you are acquainted with my gifts and good deeds."

"I have no distinct recollection."

"At any rate, you know I left the bulk of my estate to charity," said the departed, slightly miffed.

"Really, I have not been in personal touch with these matters for some years. Yet, if the amount is so stated, I am not in a position to question it," said Peter, smiling benignly.

"If you don't know these things, how am I to get in?" exclaimed the departed.

"I cannot say," was the answer.

"Am I to get in at all?"

"That is not my understanding of the matter."

"Well, this beats the devil," said the departed.

"Such may be the case, but I am unable to view it in that light," answered Peter.

Then he stepped off the stand, and, bowing kindly on all sides, went to luncheon.

And the departed, sitting down on the steps, said musingly:

"There goes a splendid man, one I could have used in my business. And yet he lacks originality. That was all my own stuff." —New York Times.

HUMORIST DECLARED LAZIEST
MAN IN NEWSPAPER GAME.

Printing Office "Cub" Relates How
Forty Years Ago the Popular Writer Would Bribe Him Not to Be Disturbed.

W. Landsittel is the grizzled foreman of the Lyons Republican, which is the Republican organ of Wayne county, New York.

"I've been in this business for 50 years now," he said to a reporter as he stroked his gray mustache, "and I have seen some lazy people in my time. Yes, sir, while the newspaper business is exacting and telling on the nerves, it does harbor some real lazy folks from time to time."

"Whom do you consider the champion lazy man of the newspaper game?" he was asked.

"That is so easy to answer," was his reply, with a wan smile. "Almost any of the real old-timers in this business would give you his name right off the bat. Why, Mark Twain holds the belt."

The Republican's foreman reflected. "I was a printer's devil on the Buffalo Express 40 years ago," he said, "and one of my duties was to sweep the room where reporters and editors worked. Every day during the time that Mark was a partner in the publication of the Express I was bribed by him in the cause of rest and ease. I would sweep every corner of that room, and when I came to Mark's desk, on which his feet rested, he would look me over and ask me to go away. 'I don't want my part of the office cleaned up,' he would say. 'Please don't make me move, I'm so comfortable.' Then he would give me a nickel to get away from him and leave him in his own corner without any of the debris of the business cleared away. He would rather die there in the dust and truck than uncross his legs or tilt his chair back so that I could sweep up."

Brother Landsittel stopped the press long enough to find out what was chipping the corners of his pages as they were swept downward from the big rollers.

"Yes, sir," he ruminated, "he was certainly lazy. One day he gave me a nickel to dot an 'i' in his copy for him. He did certainly enjoy life, that man did."

STORY OF THE HUMBLE CLAM

Small and Comparatively Unimportant, Nevertheless He Has His Good Points.

Everybody has heard of the clam, for he has of late years achieved celebrity by lending the use of his name for broth, a form of warm water used in restaurants and soda fountains.

Those who have studied the clam, however, know that he is in reality a remarkable individual.

The clam begins by depositing himself in a sand bank. He takes out no fire insurance, and may be seen occasionally squirting out water, as a precaution against any sparks that might fall inadvertently.

The clam in summer wears a sheath gown open at the sides, but so modest is he (or she) that it is immediately closed up at the approach of another person.

Clams have decollete necks, which they are very fond of displaying in broad daylight. This, of course, makes them very unburned.

It would be much better if, during the sunny part of the day, the clam would wear a veil.

Clams live usually in flats, and always go down through the roof.

In their native element they are very much at home, but when seen in company with human beings they are usually in the soup or frittering away their lives.—Judge.

NATURAL ENEMY OF MOSQUITO

Fish Known as "Millions" Relied On to Exterminate the Pest That Spreads Malaria.

That the destruction of mosquitoes and the elimination of malaria should be brought about by the greedy appetite of any tribe of the piscatorial species, seems like a far-off and improbable dream, but such an event is the hope and prophecy of men who have been experimenting with a minute fresh water fish from Barbadoes, known as "millions" (Girardinus pectinoides), a large number of which have recently been presented to the zoological gardens in London.

They are of special interest because of their supposed action in preventing malaria. This disease is far less prevalent in Barbadoes than in other West Indian islands, and it is claimed by many that this is due to the presence of "millions" in the fresh water pools.

The little fish is very voracious and destroys large numbers of the larvae of mosquitoes that spread malaria. It is proposed to make experiments in the line of introducing this fish into tropical countries where malaria is prevalent.

Brandt & Grote warrants "S" and Vigoral flour the best.

J. C. Bullock will guarantee Vigoral hard wheat flour.

Case Dismissed.

The following story which leaked out of a Yale faculty meeting is also typical of "Waterloo" Wheeler. The case of a fast student was before the faculty. Though the Yale principle is to meddle as little as possible with the life and morals of the student, insisting merely on the rule, keep a good scholarship stand and be regular in attendance, still flagrant cases of misconduct are summarily disposed of. The student in question had been seen in the company of a woman of rather poor reputation, and there was a question of dismissal. Lest he be wrongfully sentenced the cautious Prof. Ladd, the philosopher, had inquired: "Was the young man positively identified?" Oh, yes, the professor knew the man well; there could be no mistake about it. Then Prof. Wheeler looked up quizzically, tapped his spectacles against the fingers of his left hand, a characteristic gesture, and inquired: "And can the professor also positively identify the other party?" From "Familiar Yarns of the Yale Faculty," in the Bohemian.

Necessity, Not Choice.

A young man engaged board in a private family who were extremely devout. Before each meal grace was said. To their dismay the new boarder sat bolt upright while the others reverently bowed their heads. When the second day passed, and the young man evinced no disposition to unbend, the good lady of the house could endure the situation no longer. "Agonize!" asked she, sharply. "No, madam," humbly responded the young man, "bowl."—Harper's Magazine.

RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

REVIVAL OF RUMORS THAT THE ST. PAUL ROAD IS TO PURCHASE THE "KATY."

COACH CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources For the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

At the present time only a comparatively few independent railroad properties of the smaller class exist in the United States, prominent among which are the Kansas City Southern and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas companies, says this morning's St. Louis Globe-Democrat. There is little doubt in the minds of the speculative and investment public that control of the former property will eventually be lodged in the Harriman camp, and rumors persist from time to time that the latter property is to be taken over by one of the more powerful groups of western railroad systems, the St. Paul being mentioned as the possible purchaser.

Those familiar with the situation contend that were the St. Paul to acquire control of the "Katy" property the company would be in a position to properly compete with the Hill and Pacific properties in the matter of southern business, as it would afford a through line and outlet to the gulf. It will be recalled that the Hill management now has a gulf outlet as a result of its purchase of the Colorado and Southern, and the Harriman roads already have traffic agreements with the Kansas City Southern. Therefore, it is argued that the St. Paul will be compelled also to seek a southern outlet.

The Burlington already has a line along this route. Otherwise it would be necessary for the St. Paul to carry freight originating in the territory mentioned as far east as Marion, Ia., and thence southwestward to Kansas City.

SALOON THOUGHT NO. 156.

Very few people have any idea of the most terrific effects that alcoholic drinks have in producing death, and afflictions in the children of parents who use alcoholic drinks.

Volume XLIX No. 26, Page 2171, Journal of the American Medical association, Dr. Fernet says that if newspapers would only state that there were between 150 and 200 in every 1,000 deaths, for which drink is directly responsible that it would certainly arrest attention, and possibly inspire a wholesale fear of alcohol. His statistics show that alcohol is the principal or sole cause of 10.2 per cent of all deaths, and that it is an accessory or adjunct in about 24 per cent of all deaths. In the insane, it is the cause of 50 per cent of all deaths.

Pneumonia, in a drinking man, means DEATH in most all cases. This is not merely in the old "souzer" alone, but the moderate drinker, stands virtually no show at all. If you really knew how men have died in Sedalia of "heart trouble," "stomach trouble," "pneumonia," "consumption," "bronchitis," "complication of diseases," etc., which were diagnosed correctly, but were caused directly or indirectly by booze, you would certainly not boost for the sale of such materials.

City, making a total of about 250 miles more that freight would have to be carried before reaching the Missouri, Kansas and Texas than would be the case were the company to build the line from Council Bluffs mentioned above.

The importance of possible acquisition of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas by the St. Paul is not alone the fact that it would provide a Gulf of Mexico outlet for the latter's enormous western and northern tonnage of freight, but it would give the St. Paul control of one of the most important roads tapping the south.

Ever Increasing Beggars of Bombay.

The nuisance caused by beggars in Bombay has assumed unbearable proportions. The orientals practice charity as a religious obligation and relieve poverty where they find it. Recitals from Kabit and Marsabal never fail to touch the innermost chords of the natives with their innate reverence for spiritualism, and the fakir backs up his appeal for alms with profuse quotations from the poets. Then there are lay beggars and religious beggars, the ash besmeared ascetics who practice mendicancy as a hereditary profession. Last and not least are the unfortunate sufferers whom the loss of limbs or eyes or some fell disease disables for work and drives them to beggary as the last resource. These latter have a genuine claim on our charity, but as there are so few asylums in India for the halt, the maim and the blind the streets and byways of towns are flooded with beggars, pitiful types of suffering humanity.—From the Rash Gaffar.

TO LET OUT 1000 AGENTS

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE CO. WILL DROP THAT MANY TOMORROW.

NEW BUSINESS HAD TO BE REJECTED

Some of the Agents Slated to Go Had Been Doing a Business Ranging from $15,000 to $35,000 Every Twelve Months.

New York, May 31.—Names of 1,000 agents will be dropped from the rolls of the New York Life Insurance company after today, because of the limit of $150,000,000 new life insurance that may be written in a year. The constitutionality of this law was upheld by Supreme Justice O'Gorman recently.

When the amount of new business was figured last December, the New York Life found that it had reached the $150,000,000 limit and considerable new business had to be rejected. The matter came before Justice O'Gorman in a suit by an agent to collect a commission on a $25,000 policy which the company had rejected on the ground that the limit of new business had been reached. Charles H. Busa, the agent who sued, says he will take the case to the court of appeals.

The New York Life began more than ten years ago to build up a great agency force. By offers of premiums it greatly increased its business so that in a few years it wrote more than $150,000,000 a year, a mark that has not been touched by any other life insurance company by $50,000,000.

The discharge of 1,000 agents is the most drastic act of the kind ever undertaken by a life insurance company. That the blow may fall as lightly as possible the New York Life selected the agents to go from those engaged in other business. Many real estate dealers and fire insurance agents also handle life insurance.

Edward R. Perkins, second vice-president, said:

"Two years ago we employed 8,000 agents, today but 3,000. After today this force will be cut down to 2,000. No other business is subjected to such a law. There is no legal limit on the business a banker or a broker may do. If we did a business of $151,000,000 a year we officials would be landed in prison."

"Three years ago we had forty-six offices in New York City; now we have only ten. Some of the agents who are slated to go did a life insurance business of from $15,000 to $35,000 a year."

A TEXAS WIND KILLED 32

Then Lightning Set the Village of Zephyr on Fire.

Brownwood, Texas, May 31.—A tornado struck the village of Zephyr, in the eastern part of Brown county, at 1 o'clock yesterday morning and left a path of death and destruction.

The death list has reached thirty-two, and the number of dangerously wounded will reach fifty.

Lightning struck a lumber yard and started a fire that burned a business block.

His Ancient Grievance.

The congressman met the correspondent.

"Say," he exclaimed, "I have a mild grievance against you."

"Get it off your mind," said the facetious scribe.

"It's just this," said the congressman. "When you put what you call a clever story into my mouth don't let it be the vintage of the year before the flood. Gimme something that doesn't date back any farther than the Crusaders, or possibly the sack of Babylon. You see, most of my constituents read the almanac. There's a good fellow."

And he shook hands effusively with the correspondent and passed along.

Jefferson City, May 31.—While in Oklahoma, James Pritchett, of Camden county, Missouri, read an item in a newspaper saying that the Missouri supreme court had affirmed the verdict finding him guilty of the murder of Constable Maues, of Richland, Pulaski county, two years ago, and today he arrived at the state prison here and delivered himself to the warden, saying he was ready to begin his ten years' term.

Attitude Toward Death.

The normal attitude of men toward death seems to be one of inattention or evasion. They do not trouble about it; they do not want to trouble about it, and they resent its being called to their notice. On this point the late Frederick Myers used to tell a story which I have always thought very illuminating. In conversation after dinner he was pressing on his host the unwelcome question, what he thought would happen after death. After many evasions and much recalcitrancy the reluctant admission was extorted: "Of course, if you press me, I believe that we shall all enter into eternal bliss; but I wish you wouldn't talk about such disagreeable subjects." This, I believe, is typical of the normal mood of most men. They don't want to be worried; and though probably, if the question were pressed, they would object to the idea of extinction, they can hardly be said to desire immortality. Even at the point of death, it would seem, this attitude is often maintained.—Atlantic.

SURRENDERED TO DEATH

THE 20,000 WHOSE BODIES ARE BURIED IN ARLINGTON CEMETERY.

THOUSANDS VISITED THE GRAVES TODAY

National Burial Ground at Washington Is the Most Beautiful in the Entire Country—The Ceremonies Today.

Washington, May 31.—"Earth may run red with other wars"—but the 20,000 who lie in Arlington cemetery
are today sleeping peacefully beneath
a wilderness of garlands and festoons of flowers. Thousands of army and navy officers, veterans and Washington officials and citizens today visited the vast burial ground of the soldier dead and left behind a veritable avalanche of fragrant tributes to these gallant heroes who surrendered only to death.

Arlington is the camping ground of an army—an army that never again
will bear arms. The National cemetery is perhaps the most beautiful burial ground in the entire country. It lies upon a hill top, where grove mighty forest trees, and where the view is unbroken to a point far off down the broad Potomac. The care-keeper of Arlington will tell you that no soldier ever saw the place in life without expressing a wish that he might lie there after death.

Sometimes, it may be, that the Federal and Confederate memorial ceremonies will be held upon the same day. The government today cares for the graves of many thousands of Confederate dead, and it is but a question of a few years probably when the north and the south will agree that one memorial day will be the part of the better patriotism.

In Arlington today soldiers of the regular army and veterans of the Union army in the Civil war remembered alike the graves of northerner and southerner.

Grant and Sherman, the two greatest of the northern war chieftains,
sleep elsewhere, one on the shore of the Hudson and the other in that beautiful cemetery in the city of St.
Louis. Their place is in Arlington.

Generals, colonels, sergeants, corporals and privates are side by side in this encampment of the dead. The silent tents of Unionists and Confederates are pitched not far apart, and no guard stands between them. Scho-
field, Federal; Wheeler, Confederate, sleep almost side by side. They were friends, then enemies in war and friends again after serving under the same flag. Both died while in the service of the United States.

There are soldiers of many wars resting in Arlington. Revolutionary veterans lie under the same trees
that shelter their descendants killed in the Philippine islands. Soldiers who were the victims of the Seminole
and the Sioux are asleep side by side,
and with them are the men who fell
at Moline del Rey and Buena Vista.
Soldiers who served on the Constitution and on the Maine are in port in Arlington. It is camping ground for the men of the united services.

RACE TRACK GAMBLING CASE

Decision Expected From the New York Court of Appeals.

Albany, N. Y., May 31.—When the court of appeals reconvenes tomorrow it is expected that a decision will be handed down in the case brought against John G. Cavanaugh and Christopher Fitzgerald for alleged violation of the Agnew-Hart anti-race track gambling laws, in distributing advance information sheets as to racing on the Brighton Beach track last July. The appeal is by the people.
The court heard arguments on May 12th.

It is contended that the disposal of the information was a violation of the new anti-race track gambling laws.

MEMORIAL FOR SUICIDES

Graves of Unfortunates Strewn With Flowers.

New York, May 31.—Those poor unfortunates who have raised their hands against themselves and desperately put out the light of life were today given a meed of praise at an unique Memorial day service in Potter's field, Hast's Island.

The local committee of the unememployed was in charge of the ceremony

and the graves of all the suicides
were decorated with wreaths of flowers.

Placards were also placed on each grave, calling attention to the work of the committee in aiding the unemployed and preventing hopeless
ones from seeking relief in suicide.
A parade was also held, which attracted much attention.

A TRIBUTE TO THE NATION'S DEFENDERS

Soon Will the Lone Survivor Be Gathered to the Silent Portals—
Celebration Today General
Throughout State.

St. Paul, Minn., May 31.—Memorial day was celebrated in the Twin Cities
and throughout Minnesota today more generally than ever before. The Memorial day proclamation of Governor John A. Johnson, who is looked upon as the logical democratic candidate for the presidency in 1912, is declared
by Grand Army men as one of the most beautiful ever written, and a close second to Col. Robert G. Ingersoll's "Vision of War." He says:

"Though nearly three score years
have come and gone since the sound of Sumpter's guns, the recurrence of each Memorial day brings to us again
the debt of love and duty it is our pleasure and privilege to pay to the memory of the nation's defenders.

"This is not a new bereavement,
but one which time, the healer of even the most poignant grief, has softened. These are not new-made graves we garland, for over them all nature has already spread the memorial of her love. They have received the benediction of her sunshine and her tears, and above them her vines

and grasses have spread the mantle
of immortality.

"The Civil war ended long ago, and
but a remnant of the grand army of veterans remains. Those spared to life's activities are worn by the ravages of time and weakened by wound and disease. Soon will the lone survivor be gathered to the silent portals,
and the annual march of the boys in blue become but a memory. Other lips and other hands will perform the service of love and decoration that belong to the heritage of the soldier.
But the army of the soldier dead will be with us as long as patriotism
swells the heart, its camp fires burn
as long as liberty lives. Time enriches their memories and to the farthest
day the heroes who gave their lives
for their country will be honored by a grateful posterity."

MILLIONS IN WHEAT DEAL

Patten's Profits Said to Be in Excess of $3,000,000.

Chicago, May 31.—With the arrival of the last day of May, the great bull manipulation in May wheat passes into financial history.

According to the best authority,
Patten's profits exceed $3,000,000.
His individual line was about 10,000-000 bushels. His brother had 10,000-
000 additional and his followers 17-600,000, making a total of close to 40,000,000.

This has been marked at an average profit of 20 cents a bushel.

commission was unveiled today.

clear of this city.

The occasion of the gathering of the blue-coated clans is the annual conclave of the Association of Police Chiefs of the United States, and the program will cover the entire week.

MAIL CLERK WAS KILLED

Bad Wreck of California Fast Mail
Train on the Santa Fe.

Topeka, Kas., May 31.—Santa Fe
passenger train No. 9, westbound,
was wrecked at Peabody this morning. H. C. Thompson, a postal clerk, of Kansas City, was killed.

The accident was caused by the wreck of a freight train on the eastbound track, the cars having been piled up on the westbound track in front of the oncoming passenger.

The engine, baggage and mail cars
went into the ditch, and Thompson was instantly killed. Brakeman E.
Perkins and Baggageman Travis were slightly injured.

No. 9 is known as the California
fast mail, and left Kansas City at 8:40 last night. It was composed of a mail, baggage, three chair cars and three sleepers.

United States cavalry marched in today's Memorial day parade.

MANY SPORTING EVENTS

EVERY BRANCH OF SPORT REPRESENTED IN THE EVENTS OF TODAY.

TWO HILL CLIMBS BY AUTOMOBILISTS

At Seattle, Wash., Soldiers and Sailors Went Into Camp Preliminary to Five Days Athletic Carnival.

New York, May 31.—Every branch of sport is represented among the numerous important events set for today in cities throughout the country.

Among motorists the affair of greatest importance is the Giant's Despair hill climb at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., which has been declared a national event by the American Automobile association. It is reported that 75,000 spectators will witness the contest.

Of secondary importance is the annual hill climb which will be decided today at Bridgeport, Conn., under the auspices of the automobile club of that city. Sport Hill is the scene of the contest.

One of the principal aquatic events of the day will be the two-mile race on Lake Cayuga, near Ithaca, between the crews of Harvard and Cornell. Last year the Crimson crew ran away from the Ithacans, but today's race promises to be much more closely contested.

Another water event of national importance is the contest of the Harlem Regatta association, which is slated for today on the Harlem river. Some of the best oarsmen of the country will be seen in the fifteen events comprising the regatta program.

Several yachting events of importance will be decided today. Among them is the special club race which will open the season of the Seawanhaka tans, and the opening regatta of the Atlantic Yacht club. The Inter-Club Yacht Racing association of Boston also holds its initial regatta today.

An equine exhibition which has attracted the attention of horsemen all over the country was opened today by the Philadelphia Horse Show association on St. Martin's Green.

Marathon racing continues to hold its own in the metropolis, and an important event of this character is set for decision today at the Brighton Beach arena. Many prominent long distance runners are entered.

Out in Seattle hundreds of soldiers and sailors in Uncle Sam's service are going into camp today and will participate in the five-day athletic carnival that will be a feature of the opening week of the exposition.

The annual track meet between Exeter and Andover academics will be held today at Exeter, N. H.

Trees That Whistle and Weep. In Nubia there is a curiosity in tree life. It is called the Sofar or Whistling tree. When the soft winds blow through its branches it gives forth delightful melodies after the manner of the old-time Aeolian harp. For hours at a time this strange, weird music stretches out across the wilderness, thrilling the listener with a mad fantasy of pleasure. The Nubians claim that it is the spirits of the dead singing to those who are about to join them. Scientists say that the music is caused by millions of small holes bored by an insect in the spines of the leaves. Another tree that interests botanists is the Weeping tree of the Canary islands. This tree, during the driest weather, will rain down regular showers from its leaves. The natives during a drought gather under the branches and fill their buckets. The water is clear and pure.

WEEDING OUT OFFICERS

NAVAL RETIRING BOARD WILL MEET FOR THIS PURPOSE IN WASHINGTON.

WILL HOLD FIRST SESSION TOMORROW

Rear Admiral Charles D. Sperry is President of the Board—Other Officers Who Will Be Associated With Him.

Washington, May 31.—Important changes will be made in the personnel of the navy's list of active officers as the result of the investigation of the naval retiring board, the members of which met today and will begin their labors tomorrow.

Rear Admiral Charles S. Sperry, recently in command of the Atlantic battleship fleet, is president of the board, which will weed out a sufficient number of officers for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1909.

This weeding-out process is necessary to make the flow of promotions required by the naval personnel act. The other members who will compose the board are:

Rear Admiral William T. Swinburne, recently in command of the Pacific fleet; Conway H. Arnold, who was relieved today of the command of the third squadron of the Atlantic fleet; Royal B. Bradford, retired, and Richard Walnwright, commanding the third division of the Atlantic fleet.

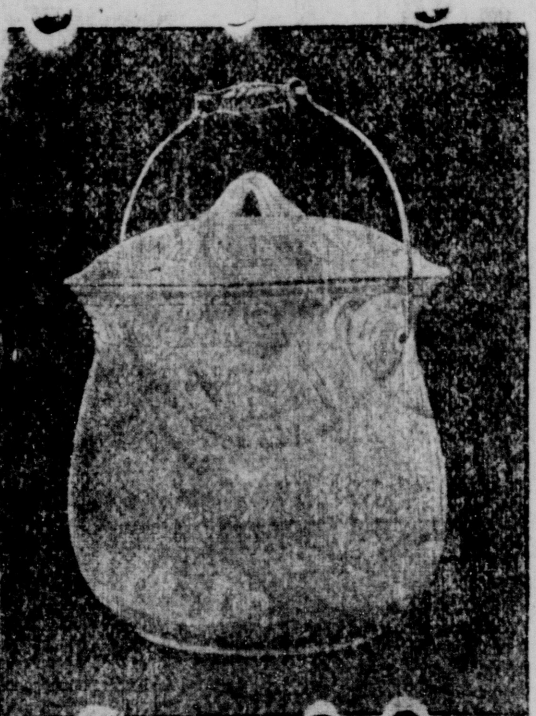

The board will have its preliminary meeting in Washington tomorrow, and the retirements of officers will be commenced on July 1.

By retirements, resignations and deaths, twenty-four vacancies have been created in the junior grade of lieutenants since July 1, 1908.

With the retirements for age last week of Rear Admirals E. C. Pendleton and that of Rear Admiral J. N. Hemphill on June 18, and the resignation today of Lieutenant Commander James N. Walker, there will remain but thirteen vacancies to be created.

It is expected that several officers will apply for retirements before July

I rather than take the physical test, and it is also likely that a number who anticipate retirement or a failure on the physical test will ask for voluntary retirement.

Last week it was reported that Commander Frederick C. Bowers and Lieutenant Willis McDowell, both on duty at Washington, were found physically unable to take the walking test.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, fourteen vacancies were needed, but the retiring board was spared the disagreeable duty of making a selection, as sixteen officers applied for voluntary retirement.

Nine captains and five commanders were selected for retirement, with an advanced grade, and the applications for retirement of Lieutenant Commanders Allen M. Cook and Milton E. Reed were refused. The former is navigating officer of the California, and the latter officer is on duty at the naval academy.

WOULD GET REAL ENJOYMENT

Zachary Melick, with a Million Dollars, Has Plans to Scatter a Little Sunshine.

"I wouldn't care a rap for a million dollars," said Zachary Melick, "if I couldn't divide it among about 20 people I know. And I reckon they wouldn't enjoy their little $50,000 apiece unless they divided it among their friends, too."

"The charitable societies don't cover the whole field, not by a good deal. Sometimes it seems to me the people that deserve kindness most are the ones that ask for it last. I know an old lady, past 80 she is, and her crippled daughter, a woman of 60. Those two live and keep house on a pension of ten dollars a month. That ten dollars is absolutely all they have to spend; it has to pay for everything, but they manage to keep inside of it, though no one but the Lord knows how they do it. When the mother goes the daughter won't have a cent, yet they're always happy, always glad to see company, and to put up an extra chair to the table. Their hearts are warm enough, if they do have to keep a rug at the crack of the door."

"There's thousands of good, gentle people in just such a fix. If I was a young man again, one of my main reasons for wanting to succeed would be so I could equalize things a little in this uneven old world, after I'd made my pile. I reckon there would be at least one millionaire who wouldn't look careworn."—Newark (N. J.) News.

Krakatoa.

Perhaps the most remarkable volcanic eruption known was that which took place in August, 1883, at the island of Krakatoa, in the Straits of Sunda. Streams of volcanic dust were thrown 17 miles high, and more than a cubic mile of material was expelled from the volcanic crater. The air waves started by the eruption traveled around the earth seven times. The noise was heard at Mascara, 969 miles away; at Borneo, 1,116 miles distant; in West Australia, 1,700 miles away, and even at Rodriguez, distant more than 2,900 miles. The dust and powdered pumice thrown out of the crater made the entire circuit of the earth before settling down, and was the cause of the strange sunsets that were observed for many months.

The paper on which Bank of England notes are printed has been made since 1719 by the same mill at Laverstoke, in the valley of the Test, in Hampshire, where about 60,000 notes are made daily. ### ANDREW JOHNSON'S LIFE

WAS THE THEME OF MEMORIAL DAY ADDRESS AT GREENVILLE, TENNESSEE.

HON. MARTIN W. LITTLETON WAS ORATOR

Traveled All the Way From New York to Speak in Terms of Eulogy of President Tried on Impeachment Charge.

Greenville, Tenn., May 31.—Scattered over the green sward in and surrounding the National cemetery, which, for the past forty years, has served as the resting place for the body of Andrew Johnson, the seventeenth president of the United States, thousands of the descendants of his old-time neighbors and friends in East Tennessee today took advantage of the first memorial celebration since the transformation of the private cemetery into a national institution to do honor to the memory of the former distinguished citizen by organizing the Andrew Johnson Memorial association.

The people came from all portions of the vast and picturesque East Tennessee country, and while most of them were of the present day generation, there were some old-timers who boasted of having known the Tennessee commoner in his day and who spoke of the fact with pride. The orator of the occasion, Martin W. Littleton, of New York, came all the way to speak in terms of highest praise of the one president who, during his term of office, was tried as impeachment charges.

Mr. Littleton is a native of East Tennessee, and he expressed high appreciation of the honor conferred on him in making him the orator of the occasion. He reviewed at great length

Don't walk by a good thing—and good things for you may crop out of your Democrat-Sentinel any evening.

Read these classified advertisements carefully and when your opportunity appears you will be prepared to grasp it.

the life of the distinguished man in whose honor the people had assembled, and predicted that the day would come when the entire country would be pleased to do homage to the memory of Andrew Johnson.

The place at which the celebration was held was on the edge of the city burial place, which, a year or two ago, was purchased by the government and has since been made into a national cemetery. It is a beautiful spot just outside of the town in which, for several years in his early life, Mr. Johnson worked as a tailor.

It is splendidly cared for and commands a fine view of the mountain range which separates Mr. Johnson's adopted state from North Carolina, the state in which he was born. Many visitors came from the outside, and the residents found especial pleasure in pointing out the still preserved sign of "Andrew Johnson, Tailor," which continues to decorate one of the humblest buildings here. The people also manifested much pride in the fact that notwithstanding the almost successful effort to forcibly eject Mr. Johnson from the White House, the private cemetery in which he is buried is the first of such cemeteries to be given a national character by congress.

Among those present and participating in the proceedings was Hon. Walter P. Brownlow, member of congress from this district, himself a near relative of the late Parson Brownlow, Mr. Johnson's most distinguished compeer. Mr. Brownlow was largely responsible for the creation of the national cemetery, and while he occupied no assigned part on today's program, he was by common consent accorded a position of general prominence.

In addition to Mr. Littleton's speech, the program consisted of the singing of "America" and the "Star Spangled Banner" by a choir of 200 voices; an invocation by Rev. John S. Eakin, and the introduction of Mr. Littleton by the Hon. James C. Park, closing with the organization of the Memorial association. There was a notable orchestra attendance, several members of which were old-time fiddlers, who had furnished music at the political gatherings during the notable Johnson-Gentry campaign for governor before the Civil war. Many of them were in reminiscent mood, and between times manifested a willingness to entertain visitors with stories of the dim and distant past. Altogether, it was a memorable day for Greenville, and visitors generally voted that they had been well entertained.

A MONEY-MAKING OPPORTUNITY

Not everybody can go into business for themselves. Lack of capital and absence of special training stand as unsurmountable barriers to many men and women who desire to make something besides the wages they earn with their hands. Today there are many of these who have invested their savings in stock securities and are receiving nice dividends on the investment made. That's the way to make money earn more than the ordinary small per cent paid by the banks for deposits or received from rentals in real estate investments. The whole problem in these matters is to get the right kind of stocks and GET IN ON THE GROUND FLOOR. It's those who purchase when an enterprise is started and get the stock at less than par and who afterwards draw dividends on the par value that receive the big returns for money invested. The trouble is to find one of these enterprises and then to get in with those who get the first chance.

HERE IS SOMETHING THAT EMBODIES THESE REQUISITES

The stock of the Bonner Springs Resort Company has just been placed on the market—it's a safe, sure and profitable investment, and the offer to original buyers now will insure those purchasing stock returns of from 30 to 45 per cent on actual money invested.

The company has purchased the beautiful park on which are the many medicinal springs from which the town takes its name.

These waters, by comparative analysis, have proven far superior to any found in the middle west, and the many people drinking them has created a demand for accommodations on a large scale, consequently a large resort hotel is being built, which it is the intention to open about the first of September.

A bath house unexcelled in equipment is to be built, and the company has planned the construction of a large sanitarium and hospital for scientific treatments and difficult surgery as well as the nursing back to health of invalids.

These are all planned on a conservative basis and a great many people have already become interested. Among them are men who are noted for their excellent judgment and business ability.

THE COMPANY'S HOTEL IN COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION AT BONNER SPRINGS.

This hotel will be managed by Mr. George H. Lawrence, formerly of the Hamilton, of Wichita, the Copeland hotel, of Topeka, and the Huckins, of Sedalia, who has operated some of the finest hotels in the United States, and has had twenty-three years' experience, thereby assuring his many friends that they will be cared for even better than at any time in the past.

The combination of the many lines of business under one corporate management is somewhat unusual, but coupled with the present demand and the systematic management of an expert in charge of each line assures absolute success. We will have the following lines:

- 1 Hotel business.
- 2 Bath house.
- 3 Sanitarium and hospital.
- 4 Amusements.
- 5 Bottling works.
- 6 Electric lighting.
- 7 Refreshments.
- 8 Boating and bathing.
- 9 Rental of summer cottages.

THE OFFICERS OF THE CORPORATION ARE MEN OF PROMINENCE.

The officers and directors are composed principally of men who have spent years at the head of a large corporation or business, consequently they are competent to handle this large undertaking in a business-like manner.

The directors are:

W. H. Winants, Banker, Kansas City.	Wm. P. Borland, Congressman Fifth District Missouri.
C. J. Schmelzer, Schmelzer Arms Co., Kansas City.	F. W. Warner, Banker, Bonner Springs.
B. P. Pigg, Secretary, Kansas City.	Cliff Langsdale, City Attorney, Kansas City, Mo.
J. E. McDaniel, General Manager.	E. E. Richardson, Secretary-Treasurer Stock Yards Co., Kansas City.
A. M. Cook, Salesman, Kansas City.	F. D. Pelletier, President Pelletier Building Co., Kansas City.
J. W. McDaniel, Capitalist, Bonner Springs.

VAST POPULATION TO DRAW FROM.

Within a radius of a hundred miles of Bonner Springs there are more than two millions of people. Within a night's ride lie Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Iowa, Illinois, and parts of Nebraska, Texas, South Dakota and Minnesota. Fifteen millions of people within a fifteen hours' ride. Think of it! One-sixth of the population of the United States! No other watering place west of the Alleghenies can claim this.

Controlling as it does every mineral spring in the vicinity, with beautiful grounds, with a monopoly of the hotel and bath house privileges, sanitarium and all other revenue producing enterprises found in all health resorts, Bonner Springs will pay big money to those who take advantage of the opportunity presented to them; and get hold of this stock.

Nothing of this sort has ever before been offered to the public at large, and usually only a chosen few have been admitted to the "ground floor."

The par value of shares are $10 not less than 15 per cent on the each. The capital stock is $500,000. A block of this stock has been set aside to be sold at $3.50 per share and a portion of this block is offered to readers of this paper at the price mentioned, $3.50 for $10.

With the stock goes a contract that the owner can exchange same at par value for accommodations at the hotel at any time, or that the stockholders of record can obtain a discount of 10 per cent on hotel and bath accommodations as long as they own the stock.

A conservative estimate by experts in resort enterprises place the earnings of the company at not less than 15 per cent on the capital stock, so that purchasers will receive nearly 45 per cent on the money they invest. Information and stock is gladly given.

St. Louis, Mo., May 31.—The whole story of his strange relations with pretty 20-year-old Gertrude Wolff will be told in detail by the Rev. F. G. Schenk, pastor of the Stople, Mo., Evangelical church, in an effort to win the good will of the immigration officials so that, instead of being prosecuted on a criminal charge, he may obtain the deportation which he says he longs for ardently.

This announcement was made by the minister after his arrest by immigration Inspector S. L. Whitfield. Rev. Mr. Schenk confessed that he was the father of Gertrude Wolff's older child.

"While she was here I wished to shield her," he said, "but she is far away now on the ocean and I will speak."

Gertrude Wolff, just before she set sail for Germany last Monday, wrote two love-letters, in which she pleaded with the minister to forsake everything and go to her, as he had said he would. But, in a brief signed statement, Schenk declares he has broken with "his evil."

Whatever the outcome of the immigration officials' action may be, Schenk will not hold a pastorate in the Evangelical church again. The Rev. Louis Suedemeyer, pastor of the Hermann church, has received written authority to forbid Schenk preaching any sermon or discharging any pastoral duty. When the St. Louis synod meets Dr. Suedemeyer says Schenk will be formally unfrocked.

If Schenk should be convicted on the charge named in the warrant against him the maximum penalty would be a five-year prison sentence and a $5,000 fine. The warrant fixed the bond that would be accepted in Schenk's case at $5,000. Until the immigration office reaches a decision or Schenk furnishes bond he will remain a prisoner in St. Louis.

The Rev. Mr. Suedemeyer says that he furnished Gertrude Wolff with the money to pay her way to her German home that she might fulfill her written promise to give up Schenk forever and to surrender her two children to Mrs. Schenk. Schenk's confession reads:

"I wish today to make a clean breast. I welcome the opportunity to do so to the United States officer. I carried a heavy burden for a long time. I repented for years, but found not the power to break loose from evil. I will show now that I did break with the evil and will make good. I thank my friends, especially Dr. A. Siebert and Pastor Suedemeyer, who convinced me today that the best way to face our merciful God is in open truth."
